

TELLS COURT HE WAS DRUNK WHILE DRIVING HIS CAR

Percy O. Cooper, Morrisville, Saves Prison Term
by Telling the Truth

BOOZ PLEADS GUILTY

Richard Clark, Eddington, is Granted Parole by Judge Keller

DOYLESTOWN, July 3—Honesty plus rewarded Percy O. Cooper, of Morrisville, a Trenton wire plant foreman yesterday in the Bucks county court. At least it saved him some money and a possible prison sentence.

Cooper didn't use the time-worn defense of "only two beers" when he pleaded guilty to driving his automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor on the Morrisville-Trenton bridge on May 15 this year.

Instead, Cooper, 58, told President Judge Hiram H. Keller that he "started off with two beers," and then followed through with "maybe 15 highballs, more or less."

"You were pretty well intoxicated, were you not?" asked Attorney William M. Power, defense counsel. "There's not a question in my mind about it. I was drunk," replied Cooper.

"It's refreshing to know there are some honest men who plead guilty to this charge," commented Judge Keller, who sentenced Cooper to pay a fine of $150 and costs.

Cooper was arrested by Officer Charles J. Bear of the Bridge Police, who testified that the defendant was "really very drunk." Cooper's car collided with a large 10-ton truck and nothing happened in the way of serious damage.

"All of a sudden the lights went out, and that's all I remember," Cooper told Judge Keller.

He told the court that he was in Trenton officiating at a billiard match in the recreational rooms of the plant where he was employed, and that it was there that he met up with some friends who took him to a tap room where the damage occurred.

"I don't consider myself a drinking man," testified Cooper. "But I took a couple of beers and then the friends persuaded me to take a highball or two, and of course, I bought one myself. After that I don't know what happened; I might have had fifteen, I don't know."

As a character witness, Grace Dunn, of Morrisville, a former Trenton high school principal who is a neighbor of the defendant, told Judge Keller that Cooper's reputation was "very, very good."

Edward Booz, 23, of Bristol, pleaded guilty to malicious mischief yesterday before Judge Keller. He was arrested on the information of Alfred Griffith, of Bristol, who told the court that Booz took one of his riding horses out of the owner's barn at 2:30 on the morning of June 10, and rode it around Bristol. Griffith told the court that no damage was done but that Booz had unlocked the barn door to gain entrance. Judge Keller warned Booz to stay away from the Griffith stables. The court then discharged the defendant and placed the costs on the county.

James H. Kirk, of Morrisville, who was in the arrears over $400 on a support order that the court recently imposed, was committed to the Bucks County Prison for contempt of court.

Richard Clark, 71, of Eddington, was granted a parole yesterday by Judge Keller. He was sentenced to 6 to 23 months on May 7, 1946. Clark told the court that he had a job just as soon as he left prison.

One of the places mentioned was a point on Swamp road, between Rushland and Mozart, from where it is possible to get views of several townships in this county and two counties in New Jersey.

Mention was made of a house on Old York road, between Jamison and Harboro, where General Lafayette received his commission from Washington.

Top Rock, along the Delaware River, near Milford, was one of the places of beauty mentioned. Miss Slack described the drive along the Pannocussing and Cuttloss creeks as one of the most attractive drives, particularly in the fall.

LABOR AND POLITICS

A side of the new Labor Law which will have great bearing on the course of future events includes those parts of the Act which limit the power of labor bosses to "play politics" and to make political deals with the votes and money of their captive union membership.

This is a phase of recent American history which has given grave concern to those interested in trying to keep national government both free and "good."

Free government, of course, is impossible in any land where the vote of the individual does not represent his own free and unpressured choice. Good government disappears whenever free government goes into hiding.

The political deals of big-shot labor czars with New Deal chiefs—which deals have molded most of the country's political history for some fifteen years—began with the bargain between John L. Lewis and the late President Roosevelt.

Big John made his bargain and kept it. He laid down on the barrel-head an immense cash contribution to the Roosevelt campaign. And he "produced" votes from the rank and file of the United Mine Workers. Perhaps Mr. Roosevelt might have been successful without Lewis' help—but at any event, he thought he needed it; and made a deal to get it.

DRIVE CAREFULLY OVER THE HOLIDAY

Motorists Are Urged Not To

HELP STOP ACCIDENTS

How To Win Friends And Influence Drivers

An etiquette book is a pretty scary thing, if you read it from cover to cover, yet actually all those hundreds of rules boil down to just one thing—constant thoughtfulness and consideration for other people.

That kind of etiquette is every bit as important when driving a car, because while rudeness and lack of consideration may cost you some friends, on the highway they are terribly apt to cost a life—maybe your own, maybe someone else's.

A courteous driver never expects other motorists to read his mind; he makes his intentions clearly known, well in advance. He signals before turning, before slowing down, before stopping. At other times he refrains from pointing, waving, or making other confusing motions with his signalling arm.

If everybody applied even that tiny bit of highway etiquette, a human life could be saved every day of the year!

Another day in July has passed and gone without a major accident being reported to police in Bristol and the Bristol area. This keeps the record which has been set for motorists here "not to have a major accident during the present month."

The July 4th holiday week-end is one always marked by the huge number of motor accidents which take place throughout the country. Motorists are asked to drive with great caution during this period when the highways are crowded. Don't hurry but take your time; drive slowly and be safe.

Drinking by drivers and pedestrians is a growing traffic safety problem. The most recent records of state authorities show that in one out of every four fatal traffic accidents, a driver or a pedestrian was reported as having been drinking.

THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1947

PHILOSOPHY OF FREEDOM

Once each year, on the Fourth of July, the people of the United States pause to celebrate the anniversary of their independence.
It is a time for a renewal of devotion to the fundamental beliefs that are the basis and bulwark of liberty.

On July 4, 1776, the members of the Continental Congress did more than assert their independence. That was the purpose of the original resolution submitted on June 7 by Richard Henry Lee, declaring "that these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states."

But the men on whom this great responsibility rested felt, and rightly so, that a mere statement of independence was not enough. So a committee of five, headed by Thomas Jefferson, was delegated to embody the spirit and purpose that motivated them into a declaration of independence.

They acted wisely. The words of that declaration were the most potent weapon of the new nation in its bitter fight for freedom. Because those words rang true, the weak and struggling colonies were able to stand against the might of the strongest empire in the world.
Those words, across the years,
still ring true:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving just powers from the consent of the governed."

Those words are the heart of the declaration. They are more.
They are the charter of liberalism. For 171 years, they have inspired men all over the world to rise against tyranny. For 171 years, they have been the guiding spirit in the life of the nation, the watchwords in the constant fight against bureaucracy and oppressive taxation.

They have served the nation well. As long as Americans are true to them, this will be the home of the free and the land of opportunity. The whole philosophy of freedom is expressed in those words, and to them on this anniversary of liberty all Americans again should pledge their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor.

WHERE'S THE TRIMBLE?

The busy pattern counters in stores and a record sale of patterns last year point to the little-noticed revival of sewing in the home. Time was when sewing and needle work were part of every girl's home training. The custom almost vanished as the mass production of dresses made home sewing almost unprofitable.

In the last few years, however, many mothers and daughters have resumed sewing to supplement their wardrobes. Only last week, a Greensburg, Ind., woman won national honors in a needlework contest.

Doesn't all this signify that most American women still are ifty, ingenious, homemakers?

Labor and Politics

Now, Lewis' contribution to the Roosevelt campaigns was not just moral support. He didn't, as a citizen, make up his mind what was best for the country, and then rely on logic and persuasion to convince friends and by-standers he was right. Nor were the favors subsequently shown Lewis, up to the time of the split with the Man in the White House, in return for anything ordinary in the field of campaign support—for good advice, tactical suggestions, and moral encouragement. The quid pro quo was quite different: Lewis got special favors from the White House in return for cash and votes—not merely his own vote, but those of thousands of other "free" citizens.

The important point is not the morals of this deal, either on the part of the candidate or of the labor boss; but that John L. Lewis had come to hold so much power over the membership of his unions that he could make any such bargain "stick."

Lewis was a czar in the United Miners before President Roosevelt ran for office. The entire structure of that string of unions, for a generation, has been such that a handful of "leaders" at the top picked the officers, and kept themselves in control; and as for the members, there wasn't a blessed thing they could do about it.

The members were captives, in the most literal sense. If they protested the political orders, or the "special assessments," they were apt to be strongarmed. If they stood up in meeting, they were likely to get punched in the nose. And if they got too obstreperous, they might lose their jobs—or even find their homes dynamited.

With the active support of the White House, after the bargain had carried through the campaign successfully, John L. Lewis proceeded with the forming of the Congress of Industrial Organizations—the CIO. This was a new type of labor union, "horizontal" instead of "vertical" and was modeled largely along the French adaptations of the Communist pattern.

The time came when others took over the control of the CIO, and when the benign countenance of the White House ceased to make itself shine upon John L. Lewis. By 1944, a newcomer in high pressure labor circles, the late Sidney Hillman, had come to replace Big John in the close confidence of President Roosevelt. That year, in a bargain precisely similar to the earlier one Lewis had made, the CIO boss again sealed a political deal with President Roosevelt—special favoritism and exemption from the law for the CIO unions, in return for cash campaign contributions, votes and publicity for the Third Term.

The much-discussed CIO-PAC was the unhappy offspring of that unholy alliance.

Meanwhile, a Congress which had been lired by the earlier Lewis-Roosevelt deal had passed the Smith-Connally Act over a veto, determined to stop this type of corrupt bargain between labor tycoons and ambitious New Deal politicians.

The Act which Congress and the public thought to prohibit exactly what the PAC proceeded to do in 1944 was tactfully construed by one of Mr. Roosevelt's subordinates as not prohibiting the deal which the "chief" had made.

Last year the PAC was met on many fronts, and, by and large, lost everywhere it was opposed—Virginia, Detroit, Missouri, and nearly all of the major industrial centers.

Part of the determination back of the drive this year for new labor legislation was Congressional insistence that dictatorships in the labor movement must not be longer permitted to undermine the principles of free government and the right of individual citizens to make up their own minds how to vote.

This determination is reflected, in many parts of the act. There are new limitations on the extent to which labor unions may enter partisan politics. Moreover, the membership has a whole new set of levers with which to pry out both Communists and other bosses who insist on trying to run the unions without consulting the wishes of the members.

Will these new provisions "purify" the exceedingly corrupt and debasing tactics which some labor leaders have been using in the political field?

More passage of the law won't, of course. If that was all needed, the Smith-Connally Act would have done the trick long ago. There are two chapters to curing an evil by law: one is the legislation itself; the other is the enforcement.

Proper enforcement of the Smith-Connally Act, in the minds of a great many competent legal minds, would have outlawed the PAC campaign in 1944.

Improper enforcement of the new Labor Law, regardless of whether it is good or bad, will prevent any good results from being obtained. Much of the value of the new Act will depend upon the rulings of Attorney General Tom Clark, who will have to construe its meaning and application.

This official will be of two minds in the matter. If he looks at the vote of the Democratic Senators from his home state of Texas, then he will appreciate that the law is something which the will of the American people has demanded—and will therefore make a sincere and vigilant effort to see that it is complied with.

On the other hand, if he listens to the "sore-heads" now so noisy in Washington, he may get the idea that the thing to do is look for loopholes, jokers and other excuses for non-enforcement.

If the law is enforced, it ought to wipe out a great deal of subversive politics which have been a blot on the nation's recent history. If, on the other side, the Truman Administration does not make a sincere and honest effort to enforce this law, then that alone would be sufficient reason for the American people next year to vote the whole New Deal party forever out of Federal office.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

During the business session, which was in charge of the overseer, Joseph Wiggins, in the absence of the master, Mrs. Wilfred Hillman, four candidates were obligated into the first and second degrees. A brief report of the legislative committee was given by Wilfred Smith.

Mrs. Hammond Coles presented an informative paper on "A Busy Woman's Flower Garden." The flower garden, she said, should be near the house and in front of an attractive fence or a dry wall. Mrs. Coles recommended a perennial bed, which, she said, should be started in the fall.

She recommended cow manure as the best fertilizer, and bone meal and wood ashes are a close second. These, she said, are needed to supply nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. A dust mulch must be maintained to get good results.

Mrs. Coles mentioned a number of flowers that will provide a succession of bloom throughout the entire season. Flowers named were daffodils, iris, tulips, poppies, columbine, lupines and the many different varieties of asters.

In preparing the garden for winter, said Mrs. Coles, do not remove the tops of the plants because they are needed for protection. Mow and dried leaves should be applied. Bringing her talk to a close, Mrs. Coles said: "Twenty minutes a day spent in the flower garden will amply repay the individual with the joy of creation."

The next meeting of the Grange will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Scarborough, Wycombe, on July 25th.

Auctioneer E. Newlin Brown on Tuesday sold 92 shares of Doylestown Trust Company Bank stock for a total of $17,664, at $192 per share.

The purchasers included: Elizabeth Fluck, E. M. P. Brown, Harvey D. Hunsberger, William H. Satterthwaite, J. Purdy Weiss, Della Clark and H. Quinby.

Drive Carefully Over the Holiday

Special studies bear out the belief of many authorities that the information on official accident reports underestimates the true picture. Surveys involving chemical tests of blood or other body materials of drivers tested who had been injured or killed in traffic accidents showed that half of the drivers had alcohol in their systems. About one-third of all the drivers tested had sufficient alcohol to be under its influence.

Results show that the greater the concentration of alcohol in a person's system, the greater the danger. A person with a blood alcohol concentration of over .15 per cent has a relatively poor chance of staying out of an accident. The average driver in this range is fifty-five times more likely to be involved in an accident than drivers with no alcohol.

The public is well aware of the dangers of driving after drinking. In a public opinion poll for the National Committee for Traffic Safety, each person interviewed was asked which of ten listed factors caused the greater number of accidents. In his opinion, driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor ranked number one.

Perhaps the main stumbling block in getting better enforcement of drunken driving laws in most places has been the difficulty in determining whether drivers actually were under the influence. So much difficulty has been experienced in most places in convicting drivers who are under the influence but not "staggering drunk" that enforcement has been directed at only the most obvious cases.

Many progressive enforcement agencies, however, have turned to use of chemical tests to provide the needed additional evidence. Such tests show definitely whether there is sufficient alcohol in the blood stream and brain to cause intoxication. Their use eliminates guesswork by showing whether a drinking driver has enough alcohol in his system to be legally under its influence.

Test results do not measure how much a person has been drinking—they show instead how much has been absorbed in the blood stream, and how much gets to the brain. It is the concentration of alcohol in the blood stream and brain, and not the amount in the stomach, which bears a definite relationship to degree of intoxication.

Bristol Poet Represented In A New Anthology

With the publication of "Songs of the Free," an anthology of post-war verse, the Crown Publications of New York contributes another volume to the growing list of post-war literature. Among the hundreds of poets included in this comprehensive book is Ann H. Kiddy, 532 Bath street.

"Songs of the Free" records the feelings, dreams and ideals of America's poets as tempered by the effects of the late war. It incorporates the work of many distinguished writers, and includes a brief biography of each contributor. Arrangements have been made with nearly 200 radio stations in this country and Canada for the broadcasting of many poems from this book.

The prize award, sponsored by the publisher, of a $100 Victory Bond or the alternative of the royalty publication of a book of poems, was presented to K. Frances Brown, of West Virginia, for her poem, "Young Poplar."

Sportsmen's Briefs

By JOE ELKSON

In review... although still just a few days old the bass and pickerel season which opened last Tuesday has proved very poor, according to reports coming to my attention.

Silver Lake has produced very few bass and the Canal, although somewhat better, has not measured up to pre-season expectations. Both sections will unquestionably provide better fishing in September and October, when the fish become more active and the marine vegetation begins to settle.

More anglers were on hand at midnight Monday evening along the Canal from Mill street to the Two-Mile Lock than ever before. A good many of the fishermen continued fishing from midnight right through to dawn with very little success. One or two caught as many as three bass.

Probably one reason for lack of success in the Canal is the fact that more than 50 per cent of the surface area is covered. This makes plug fishing (most popular type in this section) very difficult. Even weedless lures become fouled.

Planned to get out myself at midnight Monday evening, but the alarm didn't go off. I'm grateful that it didn't. Did, however, fish for about two hours Tuesday evening with Hugh Barton, Swala street. Between us we had two down different lures and we tried them all without a single rise.

Sounds easy, but... you don't have to be a "born marksman" to perform unusual feats of marksmanship, says Herb Parsons, reputed to be one of the country's fastest gun handlers. Patience and practice, plus good guns and ammunition, are the principal ingredients, according to the Western Winchester exhibition shooter who gives some of his tips on hitting flying targets with a 22 rifle.

Some of the most spectacular feats of shooting require mastery of relatively simple factors. Hitting two bottles, one standing on the other, with two rapid fire shots, requires only you shoot twice at the bottom bottle. The first shot breaks the bottom bottle. The top bottle falls in approximately the same position as the lower bottle and can be broken without changing aim.

Swinging targets are much easier to hit than the tyro realizes, Parsons explains. Don't follow the target back and forth with your aim. Just catch it at one of the turning points.

Once you accustom yourself to the reverse position of things in a mirror, you can aim a rifle with a mirror with little difficulty.

Shooting with the sights of a rifle covered by a card seems extremely difficult, but this feat can be mastered without much trouble. If you shoot with both eyes open, you can see both the target and your sights, reveals Parsons.

Wherever you shoot, the first rule to observe is safety. Be sure you know your bullet will land in a safe place.

Meeting... the July meeting of the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs will be held in Doylestown next Monday, July 7th, at 8 p. m. in the R. G. E. Building. In addition to an interesting business program movies and speakers will be featured. All delegates from member clubs are urged to be on hand, and all interested sportsmen are welcome to attend.

New law... (House Bill No. 365). This bill was introduced by Representative Riley, Lycoming County, and referred to the Committee on Fisheries February 18th. It provides for an increase in the fishing license from $1.50 to $2.00, with the following provision: "The sum of twenty-five cents from each resident fishing license fee, being one-half of the increase in fees provided by this amendment, shall be used exclusively for (1) the acquisition in the name of the Commonwealth by purchase of land and fishing waters or warm water ponds or lands which because of their natural conditions can be converted into ponds, dams or reservoirs anywhere in the Commonwealth or in any part thereof with such rights of ingress or egress to or from such waters as may be necessary to make the same available for use by the citizens of the Commonwealth for fishing and the maintenance thereof (2) the rebuilding of torn out dams and (3) the study of problems related to better fishing; all moneys received under the provisions of this clause and all expenditures made from such moneys shall be shown in detail by the Board in every annual report or annual statement rendered by it." This bill passed both the House and Senate and was approved by the Governor on June 20th. It will become effective January 1, 1948.

BRISTOL JR. LEGION KEEPS IN RACE FOR LEAGUE HONORS

Quakertown is Smothered by The Score of 12 to 0

YOUNG ON THE MOUND

Quakertown Was Allowed Only Three Hits During The Game

QUAKERTOWN, July 3.—Not one Quakertown player reached third base last evening as the Bristol Junior Legion remained in the race for the Bucks County Legion championship by defeating the Quakertown Junior Legion, 12-0.

Bob Young was the hurler who turned in the shutout performance and gave the up-county boys but three hits. Of the three hits, two went to Kaufman who was the only player to reach second place. Incidentally, Kaufman was the only Quakertown player who solved "Lumpy" Jones for hits in the opening game of the season.

Young struck out eight and issued two passes. The losing pitcher was Cawthorne who had six strikeouts. Kaufman who relieved Cawthorne in the fifth had five whiffs to his credit.

Bristol's big inning was the fourth in which eight runs were scored on three errors, two walks, a hit batsman, and three singles.

Dave Morrell had three hits to lead the Bristol stickmen.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
The Picnic Was a "Hug" Success!

Our local Wild Life League went on a picnic Saturday, and I went along to cover it for the Clarion. Monday, folks kept stopping me, and saying: "Must have gotten out of hand, that picnic!"

"Nonsense," I says. "It was mighty pleasant and congenial. Just beer and hot dogs, cheese and cider." And then they show me the headline reading: "WILD WIFE PICNIC HUG SUCCESS."

Of course it was Elmer, my type-setter, who had made the misprints: But in my face red! It's only because folks are so temperate and well-behaved in our town, that they could afford to take the whole thing as a joke.

From where I sit, even a newspaper editor's entitled to a few mistakes. And since I reported that they served a moderate beverage like beer, I'm sure nobody thinks the picnic was the least bit wild, or anything but a huge success—and I mean huge!

SEVEN RUNS IN FIRST GIVE GAME TO TOWNSHIP NINE

Croydon Goes Down To Defeat by Score of 10 to 5

TERRACE DEFEATED

Monte Crashes Out a Home Run With the Bases Loaded

Seven runs in the first inning gave the Bristol Township contingent a 10-5 win over Croydon, last evening, in a Bristol Youth League game on the Croydon field. As the Hibernians received a forfeited game from Third Ward, the gap between the two leaders remained at one game. In another Youth League scheduled game, the St. Ann's Juniors failed to field a team against the Fourth Ward Boys Club and the Bristol Terrace team was trounced by Bell's All-Stars, 27-7.

The feature of the Township-Croydon tilt was a beautiful catch in right-center by Jack Kennedy, of the losing team. The drive in the fifth was made by Frank Elker with the bags loaded, but Kennedy made a nice running catch, fell down, and rolled over twice but held on to the ball. He also had three hits in four trips to the plate.

In the Bell-Terrace affair, Alex Monte crashed out a home run with the bases loaded in the fourth inning. Frank Rich, of the winners, had four for four, and Adams was the winning pitcher.

BADENHAUSEN LOSES TO ROHM & HAAS

Fighting an uphill battle, the Rohm & Haas aggregation scored three runs in the seventh to check in with a triumph over the Badenhause nine on the Maple Beach field. The final score of the Suburban League contest was 7-6.

The Baddies at one stage of the game held a 5-0 lead and later had a 6-4 lead but the chemical mixers kept picking on "Charlie" Martindell and finally scored three runs in the seventh to take the one-point lead, which they kept the last two innings.

Paul Cervellero received credit for the mound win, his fourth of the season. Cervellero relieved "Johnny" Slaven in the fourth and allowed two hits in his relief role. Martindell was the loser.

The boiler-makers out-hit the Maple Beach outfit, 11-7, and were led in hitting by "Kenny" Clifton, who had a pair of singles and a triple. "Jake" Haines smacked out a home run in the third. All the hits made by Rohm & Haas were singles.

Double-Header on Fourth Scheduled by I. B. P. O. E.

Manager Ray Dorsey's Bristol Elks (I. B. P. O. E.) have plenty of hard work cut out for them, July 4th, at Leedom's field. The first game, at 1:30, will pit Langhorne against the Elks. Johnson will pitch and "Matt" Bragg will catch.

In the second game, at 3:30, Eddie Thompson will seek his third victory. "Matt" Bragg will also receive. The second game will see the localites opposing the Philadelphia Red Caps.

GOODWILL SLAMS OUT A TOTAL OF 13 HITS

Slamming two Fifth Ward pitchers for a total of thirteen hits, the Goodwill Hose team advanced to third place in the first division of the Bristol Suburban League, by registering a 13-4 triumph on the Third Ward field.

It was principally the bat of Jack Walker that was the greatest help to the Goodwill team. Coming up in the fourth with three on base, Walker delivered a long triple to clean the sacks. In the seventh, three men were on base again and Walker cleared them with what would have been another triple but he failed to touch first base and was out.

Joe Cahill continued his batting streak with the hosemen by collecting a triple and three singles in five trips to the plate.

"Smithers" Cordisco was the losing hurler and before the game was over both "Reds" Liberatore and Tony Cauti went in to pitch. Joe McDevitt struck out eleven batters for the Third Ward team and never was in serious difficulty.
